

NAACP DC BRANCH

COVID-19

BLACK BUSINESS

DIRECTORY

INTRODUCTION

The Government of the District of Columbia issued an order shuttering certain businesses in the District. To slow the spread of the 2020 COVID-19 virus, these affected businesses were first defined as “non-essential,” then ordered to close until further notice.

Even acknowledging the seriousness of the pandemic, the NAACP DC Branch understood the underlying, unspoken reality of those closures – thousands of employees and employers would be cast into the dark. Paychecks would stop flowing. Daily routines would be shattered. Certainty would be eliminated – it was unacceptable to stand by and watch food be taken from DC’s tables. Even worse, the unfortunate trend of disproportionate black and brown suffering would be made worse without immediate intervention to support the black and brown persons overwhelmingly affected by the closure order.

This Directory is a list of black owned businesses who, despite these circumstances, have adapted to provide goods and services safely through this pandemic. Please consider giving them your business. By doing so we can ensure that when this pandemic subsides, our black owned business community is strong and thriving.

To DC’s cooks, artists, bouncers, barbacks, bartenders, business owners, DJs, barbers, bakers, and other small business staples: we see you. You are not forgotten. We are collecting all black-owned business submissions for all businesses serving the District, which we will release once this pandemic allows for full and open business operations. We are strong together and will stand with you, until we make it through this crisis.

Sincerely,

DeVaughn Jones

A general dentist practice offering cosmetic and restorative dentistry services in a sustainable building while utilizing the latest equipment to provide a more natural approach that's less invasive and more oriented towards the patients' needs. Its holistic, biological and eco-friendly dental office has been in compliance with the American Dental Association and the Association of General Dentistry which requires us to wear masks in seeing patients since before Covid-19, and it will continue to do so.

Its minimizing of aerosol and killing of bacteria within the office had already been in alignment with the ADA and AGD. Due to the stay-at-home order it is implementing TeleDentistry to be able to see its patients from the convenience of their own home to first determine if they are experiencing a dental emergency. From there it will schedule an appointment at a time when the patient will have the least amount of interaction with other people. Asking that patients stay in their car until it announces the treatment room is available is another way it keeps its patients safe and healthy.
